An era ends at 'Our Lady'

By Daryl Fisher
Features Editor

SISTER MICHAEL

Retiring from helm of West Sac private school

After 44 years of dedicated service in the field of education (the vast majority of them spent in West Sacramento), Sister Michael Henry Moulin, the longtime principal of Our Lady of Grace Catholic School (OLG), has decided to step down from her position at the end of this school year.

"I've loved every minute of my time at Our Lady of Grace School," said Sister Michael, "but there comes a time when we all have to move on and do other things. Over the years I've met so many wonderful children and supportive parents and they have all enriched my life. I've always thought of Our Lady of Grace School as the perfect model for what a Catholic school should be -- and I still do."

Sister Michael grew up near the Daughters of the Holy Spirit Convent in Moosup, Connecticut and that is where her love of teaching and her religious life began. In 1962, at the tender age of 21, not long after taking her final vows, she was sent to West Sacramento to teach 2nd graders at Our Lady of Grace School.

"I had grown up in a poor family in a very small town and had never traveled," explained Sister Michael, "so when I learned I was going to California they might as well have told me they were sending me to the other end of earth. But I fell in love with the West Sacramento area right away. Back then there was so much open space and hardly any houses or roads near the school. It was a lovely place to call home."

"Sister Michael was my 2nd grade teacher way back in 1964," said local developer Dan Ramos. "She has been the guiding light over the years at OLG and she is tremendously loved and respected by scores of students and parents. She will be sorely missed but she leaves behind a wonderful legacy of hard work and good will."

Sister Michael became the principal of OLG in 1984 and has been the driving force behind many of the school's academic and facilities improvements over the years.

"With the financial support of many generous parishioners, and the sweat equity of numerous parents, our school has been able to grow with the times," said Sister Michael. "Plus our students have always consistently scored in the top 30% of all students tested nationally and have been able to go on to very good high schools and colleges and do well."

"I remember that Sister Michael ran a pretty tight ship and wasn't above pulling the ear of a disobedient boy now and then if the situation called for it," said OLG alumna Amy Pierce-Costa with a smile, "but what I remember most about her is that she spoke very good French and when she would teach our music class she would let us sing in French and that was lots of fun."

"Sister Michael always worked hard to give the school a fun, family atmosphere," said Rita Hensley, whose daughter and granddaughters have attended OLG, "and it was obvious by just watching her eyes light up around them that she really loved the children."

"My mother has been a volunteer secretary in the office at OLG for 16 years," said Denise Kotko, "and both of my children have attended the school. Many things about Sister Michael make her very special, but what has always stood out for me is her complete devotion and commitment to the students, and the fact that it extended past the classroom door."

"My brothers and my sister and I all attended OLG," recalled Pete Palamidessi, whose family has long owned and operated West Sacramento's popular Club Pheasant, "and looking back on it, Sister Michael was OLG. I mean, she's been there almost from the very beginning and I for one can't imagine the school without her. She created a great learning environment for her students and had a very positive effect on all of us. There is simply no way to replace her."

Sister Michael hasn't formalized her plans for the future yet but she is certain she will miss the students, parents, teachers and staff of OLG.

"I'm going to take a year off and during that time I will decide what I want to do next," explained Sister Michael. "I had thought about returning to Connecticut but my parents and little brother have all passed away now, so there's really not much to go back to. But life is always full of new and exciting challenges and I'm sure many more will be coming my way."

Sister Michael is not the only fine educator Our Lady of Grace School will be losing this year and she wanted this article to mention that Mrs. Parr, a vice principal and 6th grade teacher who has spent 25 years at OLG, will also be leaving, as will Mrs. DeLaMora, who has spent 10 years at OLG teaching 4th and 8th graders.

Seeing and visiting with former students has always ranked high on Sister Michael's list of favorite things to do, and Our Lady of Grace School alumni are invited to say good-bye to her on the convent grounds anytime between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday night, June 7th.

Roseville administrator tapped to lead WUSD

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

School board members unveiled WUSD's next leader on Thursday, voting 5-0 to hire Steven Lawrence, currently an administrator in Roseville, to be the next schools superintendent in West Sacramento.

Kevin Jones, president of the Washington Unified School District's board of education, opined that the selection would "shift the paradigm of education" locally and would move the district "from Bermuda grass to the Ivy League." Lawrence was selected from over 30 applicants and an interview process that included both board members and a citizens' committee.

Lawrence will start work in West Sacramento on July 1, replacing interim superintendent David Tooker. The interim has been holding the fort at WUSD since the resignation of Patrick Campbell late last year.

Lawrence now works for the Roseville Joint Union High School District as an assistant superintendent for curriculum and instruction, following a career that began as a teacher.

"I then worked myself through the ranks as an assistant principal and then as a high school principal," he told the News-Ledger. He holds a doctoral degree in policy analysis and a master's degree in school administration from UCLA, as well as a bachelor's degree from Brown University in applied mathematics.

Lawrence said it was too early for him to comment on the strengths and challenges of his new district.

"I've met the board and been interviewed by the selection panel, but I think I need to go in there and really talk to people and see what they think," he said. "I think I have a history of working with teachers and administrators and parents and students to really focus on how to meet the needs of every child, and make every child succeed. How you do that is to create a collaborative environment."

Given the sometimes-testy politics recently among the school board and top administrators at WUSD, is Lawrence ready to step in?

"I think that in any situation, people come in with their own ideas and facts," said Lawrence. "What I've found is that if you can keep students as your primary focus, it helps eliminate differences as you address people's concerns. I can't speak to past political differences in this district, but I have worked with boards and people not 100 percent in unison, by trying to keep to the plan that is agreed on."

Lawrence, 43, is married and has two grade-school age daughters in his Roseville home. He is eager to take the new post in West Sacramento.

"I'm really excited about getting into my job and starting to get to know the teachers, supervisory staff and parents," he commented. West Sacramento is a very dynamic and growing community that people think well of."

New use at site of 'adult' store?

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A former adult bookstore site near West Capitol Avenue may be headed towards a new use as a "landmark" mixed-use project.

Negotiations continue between the West Sacramento Redevelopment Agency, which owns the site, and developer David Stroud and his ASB Properties, for transfer of about four acres on Tower Court near a railway overpass and the eastern end of West Capitol.

Stroud is better known for southern West Sacramento subdivisions such as Bridgeway Island, Bridgeway Lakes and the proposed Yarbrough project. For Tower Court, he has something different in mind.

"We are as enthusiastic as the city about seeing it move forward," said Stroud. "We've been planning a high-density housing site with an office building makes sense, and now we're moving in that direction. We're talking about around 105-110 'for sale' residential units and approximately 15,000-18,000 square feet of office. We're approaching the site from a very urban standpoint. The city is coming up with some design standards for West Capitol, and we're following that lead."

City planners are now engaged in a plan to re-design the West Capitol corridor to make it more densely-developed, more urban and more people-friendly.

Maureen Pascoe of the city's redevelopment agency said the site is around four acres, and a year-old appraisal listed its value at about $1.8 million and the two sides are negotiating over its current "fair market value," which ASB Properties would have to pay for the land.

"There is also a small quantity of hazardous materials on the site – not something insurmountable," she added.

The redevelopment agency acquired the parcel in the early 1990s after a battle fought by city officials and others to close "Goldie's" adult bookstore and a couple of similar "adult" businesses around town.

Potential health hazards at the stores were cited during legal proceedings, but local leaders were also concerned with the young city's image and future economic growth.

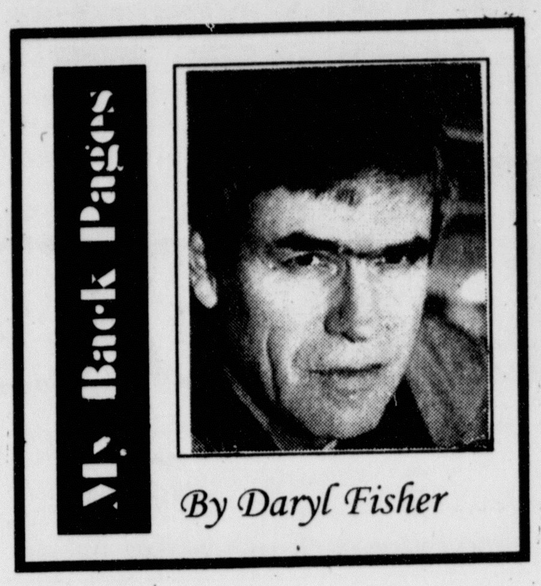
West Sac became home to many returning vets



By Daryl Fisher

Another Memorial Day weekend has come and gone. Memorial Day itself dawned bright and sunny and more or less cried out for a long morning walk and some serious reflection, and while I was strolling through some of the neighborhoods close to my West Sacramento home, I couldn't help but notice that American flags were flying everywhere.

I think with our city growing by leaps and bounds nowadays, and with so many new people moving here from all over the state and country, there's a tendency to forget the special history of our once little town, and what a patriotic place it has always been. In fact, it was actually all the countless veterans returning from World War II who gave West Sacramento its first real shot in the arm.

In the late 1940's, my father, like most returning World War II veterans who had spent three or four years away from home, was desperately looking for a place where he could get his life back to some semblance of normalcy. Like most men his age, not long after the bombing of Pearl Harbor, he had enlisted in the United States Armed Forces and in his particular case, was sent to the South Pacific, where he served in New Guinea and some of the nearby exotic islands which dotted that faraway part of the world. But with the war finally over, he just wanted to get healthy (he had a serious case of malaria by the time he boarded a troop ship headed home) and put all those terrible days and nights spent in a war zone behind him. But I think even more important than that, he wanted to settle down in a small, peaceful town where he could get a decent job and start a family, and West Sacramento turned out to be the perfect place.

Like most of the returning World War II veterans who came to this area after the war, my father wasn't afraid of hard work and once he caught on with the Southern Pacific Railroad as an electrician (a job he held for 39 years), West Sacramento became the place he would always call home.

Back in the late 1940's, new housing developments like West Sacramento's Westfield Village (where my parents bought their first home) were being built specifically with returning veterans in mind. The houses weren't very big and I can still remember the tiny little bedroom my brother and I shared for many years. But with the help of the G.I. Bill, they were at least affordable, and if I remember correctly, my parents paid $6,400 ($56 a month) for their first house on Michigan Boulevard.

When I was young, just about all my West Sacramento friends had fathers just like mine -- hard-working men who had served their country as best they could during World War II who seemed to have a special passion and respect for just being able to finally live a normal life. They didn't talk much about the war that had so disrupted their lives, at least not in front of their children, but when I would stay overnight at a friend's house, there would almost always be a framed picture or two of his father in a military uniform proudly on display for all to see.

In fact, West Sacramento turned out to be the home of so many returning World War II veterans that two separate V.F.W. Posts (#9498 and #8762, respectively) ended up being created within miles of each other, one serving veterans who had settled in the more established Bryte area, and the other serving the ever- growing West Sacramento area, and those two fine V.F.W.'s are still a proud part of our community to this day.

My father passed away a little over a year ago, and like so many of the World War II veterans and their wives who helped give West Sacramento the wonderful small-town feel it has had since I can remember, he was blessed with a long and productive life that revolved around his family and his work. But at this time of year, I always find myself saddened by the fact that his generation of Americans who served our country so well are rapidly passing from us. They are all in their 80's now, and it won't be long before they won't be here to lead by example and share with us their wisdom, humor, great music, and memories of shared sacrifice.

More than 400,000 young Americans never returned from World War II, but many of those who did settled in West Sacramento and made good, meaningful lives for themselves and their families. Like my father, they had seen enough of war and the world to know what they wanted the rest of their lives to be like.

And maybe most important of all, they leave behind for all American generations that follow countless examples of the dignity and nobility of the common man.

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

By Richard Novoa

Congratulations to Barry Bonds! Mr. Bonds finally clubbed home run #715 on Sunday, May 28th and he accomplished the record feat in front of his loyal home town fans. Bonds can now relax a little as he sets sail and charts his new course to pass Hank Aaron's magical 755 mark.

A record crowd at AT& T Park 42,935 witnessed the historic shot off Rockies pitcher, Byung-Hyn Kim, who will go down in the baseball trivia books as the pitcher who coughed up the HR that surpassed Ruth's magical record. How about the national media who has been relentless in hounding Bonds? Ruth cracked 714 home runs over his 22-year career and 8,399 at bats while the slick Bonds accomplished the feat in 21 years and 9,252 at bats. Bonds' next goal is to stay healthy enough to hit 41 more home runs and retire as the baseball home run king.

As soon has Bonds broke the Ruth's record the media started talking about Albert Pujols (25 HR), who is on pace to hit 79 home runs this season. Bonds set the record five years ago with 73 HR's. And then to top it off after all Barry has been through this season guess who he had to share the media spotlight with?

Well, if you guessed Andrew Morbitzer you were correct! Mr. Morbitzer is the 38-year-old marketing executive who was in the concession stand line when historic baseball fell into his hands. The guys name was mentioned in every major newspaper, website, and TV and radio show in the country. Bonds swats number 715 and the lucky Mr. Morbitzer is on Sports Center talking about the value of the baseball!

Come on give me a break! The guy was in line buying a beer when Barry was up to bat! So what's it worth? Mark McGuire's 70th home run ball, which was the highest price ball sold to date, fetched a cool $3 million.

Also, did you know that Giants radio announcer Dave Flemming microphone malfunctioned just as he was describing Bonds 715th home run. He was cut off in mid-word to the embarrassment of his KNBR radio crew and their loyal listeners. Bummer!

Diamond Notes

Oh, by the way, the Giants lost that record setting game to the Rockies on Sunday 6-3 and remain in the cellar tied with the Padres 3 ½ games behind Arizona. The G-Men are in Florida this week and will end up in the big apple for a weekend series against the Mets.

The Oakland A's will be limping back to Oakland after a 1-6 road trip especially after losing four one run games. The A's are now four games under .500 and trail the first place Rangers by 3 games. The A's have been involved in an A.L. high 20 one-run games and are only 8-12 in such games.

The A's will be home this week to try and get well against Kansas City (12-37) and then host the Twins over the weekend.

River Cats

The Rio Gatos, who are on the road in Portland and Las Vegas this week, have put together nine wins in their last 12 games. After back-to-back rain outs in Portland the River Cats put a good old fashion 19-8 whipping on the water logged Beavers.

The Cats scored a season high in runs (19) scored and hits (21). The Gatos also tied a franchise record by scoring 10 runs in one inning! Portland paid them back on Sunday night by clobbering six home runs in their 9-5 win over Sacramento as the Beavers shelled Cats starter, Dan Meyer (3-3) for 4 HR's in 3 innings.

But the star of the show for the Cats has been Hiram Bocachica, who is on fire since joining the Cats two weeks ago. Bocachica is hitting .522 with 3 HR's and 9 RBI's. Also, Keith Ginter, who went 5 for 6 with 4 runs, 7 RBI's, two doubles and a homer in 19-8 win over Portland as been making the A's take notice.

Speaking of taking notice, good news for River Cats pitcher, Matt Roney, who was called up by the A's for his professional cup of coffee in the Bigs!

Between the Ropes

Big fight this Saturday, June 3rd (Showtime 6 p.m.) in Las Vegas between Sacramento's WBC Lightweight champions Diego Corrales (40-2-0, 33KO's) and two-time ex-WBC champ, Jose Luis Castillo (52-7-1, 46 KO's). This is the rubber match of their trilogy. Corrales, 28, won the first fight in their 2005 fight of the year last May. In their second bout Castillo failed to make the weight (135) and beat Corrales badly in their non-title rematch five months later. This time around the 12-round title fight has been monitored closely by the WBC officials to insure Castillo makes weight!

Enjoy your day – see ya next week!

Dear Friends

Joel Butler
for Yolo County Assessor

I am seeking election to be your Yolo County Assessor.

My decision to seek the office of County Assessor, is based on my 25 years experience as an assessment professional. During the past 7 years I have been the Chief Deputy Assessor for Yolo County. This experience has given me the skills necessary to effectively and fairly administer the Yolo County Assessor's Office.

The Yolo County Assessor's Office has always placed public service as a high priority. All assessments have been done in a fair and legal manner as confirmed by the last State Board of Equalization Survey giving the Office a 100% accuracy rating. I am proud of that accomplishment and pledge to maintain that legacy of success.

As Assessor, I will ensure that all assessments are legal, fair and reasonable. Based on my years of experience, knowledge and skills current Assessor Dick Fisher as well as former Assessors Alan Flory and Malcolm Nicolson have endorsed me as the best qualified candidate.
I ask for your vote on June 6.

Search of parolee's home turns up 'small meth lab'

Law enforcement personnel say they found a "small methamphetamine lab" while conducting a parole search at an Evergreen Avenue apartment last week.

The multi-jurisdictional Yolo Narcotic Enforcement Team (YONET) visited the residence on May 23 to conduct the parole search on the residence of 44-year old Terri Cline. According to YONET, they found Cline at the apartment "in possession of a small quantity of methamphetamine."

Also on site were Cline's 46-year old fiancé, Steven Gillim, and 26-year old parolee Jerrod Woods.

Officers from YONET and the Yolo County Parole office searched the apartment, reporting that they found about 180 grams of "meth," several "ecstasy" pills, a small amount of marijuana and items such as packaging, scales and U.S. currency which are "associated" with drug trafficking.

They also found "a small methamphetamine laboratory" including pseudoephedrine, red phosphorus and solvents, said YONET.

All three suspects were booked on drug charges. Cline and Woods were also held for parole violations.

West Sac's distinguished women honored at luncheon

From Jeri Wingfield
Soroptimist International of West Sacramento

Community members including dignitaries joined local Soroptimists at the 2006 Awards and Awareness Banquet held May 23. A congenial fellowship hour was followed by a special dinner prepared by chef Jean Jones and served and the VFW Auxiliary.

Janet Arunyakasem of the local club, spoke about "Who Soroptimists Are and What We Do." Then Pat Lenzi followed with a plea to all women and girls to "Follow Your Dreams." This year's gala event honored four outstanding West Sacramento Women with cash awards.

Winner of the Women's Opportunity Award for $2,000 was Ornsee Khamsa, young mother of a seven year old son and four, four year old daughters, to help with educational expenses while she gains the skills needed to support her family. In attendance was city council member Carolyn Pierson, who introduced Soroptimists to Ornsee and her family in time to celebrate the quad's first birthday.

Graduating senior Susan Matlock won the Violet Richardson Volunteerism Award of $500 with a matching award to the West Sacramento Historical Society, for which she volunteers. Society president Mark Johannessan, accepted the award.

Community response to the newspaper articles asking for suggestions of women who have made the community and the world a better place, pointed to two winners for the Making a Difference for Women Award. They are career educators and charter members of Soroptimist International of West Sacramento, Erleen Culver and Alma Soost, who's many friends and admirers attended. Their cash awards of $200 each will be donated to favorite charities.

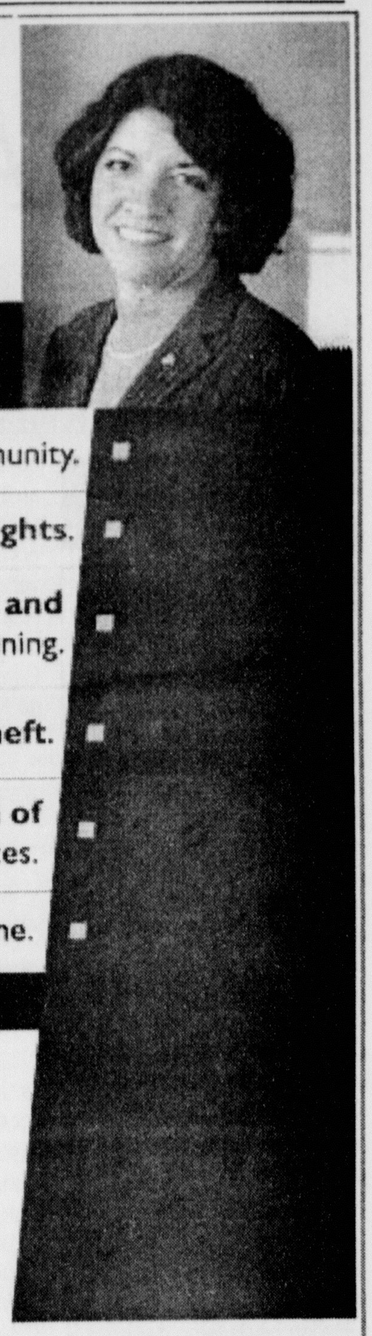
PAT LENZI
YOLO COUNTY DISTRICT ATTORNEY



The District Attorney should have a plan for public safety in Yolo County. I do.

I will lead in the effort for public safety in our community.

I will be accountable to victims with a commitment to victims' rights.

I will commit to ensuring justice in cases of child abuse and molestation through community and law enforcement training.

I will be proactive on the newly emerging cybercrimes such as identity theft.

I will implement internal processes that reduce the waste of precious tax dollars and court resources.

I will listen to and serve the community that elects me.

Why does it matter who is District Attorney?

It is the District Attorney who determines what criminal cases will be prosecuted and the types of punishment to be sought in Yolo County. The cases and issues that are brought to trial constitute public policy decisions made by the District Attorney.

As a public servant and law enforcement official, the District Attorney should not set the agenda for the community. It is the community who sets the agenda for our criminal justice system through the District Attorney.

What makes a great District Attorney?

I live here. I've raised by family here. I care about our community, and as District Attorney I will listen and respond to community voices in pursuit of justice for all crime victims.

From the mailbag:

Letters to the Editor

Where is our Senior Center?

Back in 2001, Juanita Lopez, a longtime local political activist who has since passed away, wrote a letter to the editor of the News-Ledger recalling the history of our senior citizens' long quest for their own Senior Center. She wrote in part, "The East Yolo Senior Center was the first senior club to be established in the West Sacramento area in 1969, followed shortly thereafter by the Broderick Christian Center. As the years went by some of the seniors moved or passed away and in the meantime, the East Yolo Senior Club moved to Riverbend Senior Manor and with the consent of the tenants started programs and activities there. They also kept up their yard sales and other fundraising events to save up money towards a Senior Center where everyone in West Sacramento could go. Just think of how many hours, or should I say years, those seniors put their hearts and souls into this project. You cannot put a price on all the hours of love and dreams these seniors contributed towards the creation of a new Senior Center in our city. When the East Yolo Senior Club finally disbanded we left the City of West Sacramento approximately $19,000 in a special account, a legacy of creative programs, and a tradition of fellowship and deep concern for our senior citizens. Hopefully we will see our building soon."

Well, it is now 2006 and nothing has changed. Where is the Senior Center we all dreamed about?

Thanks Mr. Tooker

As chairperson for the Superintendent Selection Advisory Council I would like to thank the school board for allowing the community to be part of the hiring process which turned out to be a very positive experience. Everyone on the council took their roles seriously and I believe that was reflected in our work product. I would also like to commend Bill Murchison and the California School Boards Association for bringing forth an outstanding group of candidates. Many people had a misconception about our role in the process which was simply to identify strengths and areas of concern for each candidate and provide the information to the board but not make recommendations. As a council we took great care in formulating our questions which enabled us to draw out a substantial amount of information in our limited amount of time with each candidate.

As the new superintendent comes on board I would like to thank the interim superintendent, Mr. Tooker, as well as Mr. Ostrom, who is the interim assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction, for stepping in to serve our district during a very acrimonious period and express my appreciation for their hard work.

I have been especially impressed by Mr. Tooker's professional demeanor as individuals have come to the podium over the last several meetings to criticize his contract. A couple of weeks ago, in a letter to the editor of your paper, Mrs. Laughlin went even further and questioned why Mr. Tooker was even hired. While I do not speak for the board, I am assuming that the decision to hire Mr. Tooker was made because they desired stable, professional, experienced leadership for our district during this transitional period, and that is exactly what Mr. Tooker, as well as Mr. Ostrom, have provided. Also in her comments Mrs. Laughlin criticized community members who have been raising issues stating that in doing so it has not done anything to bring us any closer to breaking ground on the new high school. That statement was grade-A baloney! It's not our responsibility to see to it that ground gets broken. We as a community did our part when we passed the bond measure in 2004. Those of us paying attention know that the building of the new high school is basically a math problem, but in order to provide some clarity for Mrs. Laughlin, I will state the obvious. We need "x" amount of school and have only "y" amount of bond money; factor in the rising costs of construction materials and it equals a major shortfall somewhere around $30 million dollars. Personally, I am troubled that the district has an elementary school teacher who can't do math.

Once again, my thanks to Mr. Tooker and Mr. Ostrom for doing such a fine job.

Supports Proposition 81

I don't vote for every bond measure on the ballot. I know there are limited resources out there and some things are just not worth the cost for us and those who will be paying for decades to come. In general, though, it seems to me that if we stretch ourselves to pay for education and social programs that benefit all of us, and particularly benefit the less fortunate, we won't have to be voting on those bond measures earmarked for building new prisons somewhere down the road.

One-half of Proposition 81 money will be spent on library bond proposals from the last library bond that was unfunded. Since West Sacramento has one of the proposals in this category, we could see the state provide two-thirds of the cost of a new library in West Sacramento. It's no guarantee, but the vast majority of proposals passed over from the last library bond, those that made it to the third round of cuts, will be given first priority from Proposition 81. For West Sacramento, $7.4 million is likely to come our way to fund a new library. Please consider it, and vote for Proposition 81.

The future is bilingual

Latino phobia is sure taking a toll with English speakers across the country. As a Puerto Rican U.S.A. citizen I have no problem speaking English in West Sacramento, but if I was visiting my roots in Puerto Rico I would be speaking Spanish with my friends on the island. My point is that the Puerto Rican people speak both English and Spanish depending on what is required for good communication. This bilingual status will become the norm for the future and is part of the change that is shaping the 21st century for Hispanics in 2006.

Sister Michael will be missed

I was born and raised in West Sacramento and now reside in Clarksburg. Sister Michael was my 5th grade teacher at Our Lady of Grace School in 1974. She was also the principal of OLG while my son, Jay, who is now 16-years old, attended grades K-8. He graduated from OLG in 2004 and my son, Christopher, is a current OLG 7th grade student.

Sister has always encouraged each of us to grow as whole people. Always wanting us to expand our horizons, she encouraged us, as a family, to do readings at Mass at Our Lady of Grace Church. She led the school choir at Mass at school, at church, in talent shows and community functions. Jay and Christopher were in choir every year since second grade, and Sister gave them many opportunities to sing special parts and to enjoy singing in front of the community. Sister also attended many River City theatre productions, parades and other events where Jay and Christopher have been participants in order to show her support for their activities in the musical arts outside of school.

Throughout the years, Sister gently implored us to be patient with our world, even when circumstances seemed far too daunting. She encouraged us to reach inside ourselves to find strength and she always expressed her faith in our ability to do so. In November and December of 2004, when my husband, Jack, and my mother, Virginia Turner, and my uncle all passed away, Sister was the one we felt comfortable to turn to with our pain and confusion. She offered us time, space, and faith in order to grow and heal.

As principal, there have been many demands on Sister's time. Although much of her days at OLG were spent with her administrative duties, she truly loves teaching. Her greatest joy has been to spend time with the children and you can see her eyes light up when she speaks of her daily interactions with them.

The students, their families, and the teachers and staff of OLG are Sister's world. There is a quote from St. Augustine: "Since you cannot do good to all, you are to pay special attention to those who, by accidents of time or place or circumstance, are brought into closer connection with you."

Sister has had a unique opportunity to influence the lives of many people in West Sacramento and they, in turn, have touched and enriched hers. I hope that she will be able to continue to be an influential part of this area, in whatever capacity she chooses, for many years to come.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• At one time, it was common for someone to be able to read but not be able to write. Writing was a highly specialized skill not commonly acquired by the masses.

• It is reputed that Queen Elizabeth I bathed only twice a year.

• Everyone knows that Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone — he received patent No. 174,465 for it, in fact. Most people don't realize, though, that if it weren't for a small matter of timing, Elisha Gray would have been the one put in all the history books. The electrician from Chicago invented what was, essentially, the same device, and he also applied for a patent. Unfortunately — for Gray, anyway — Bell beat him to the punch by a mere two hours.

• New Hampshire has a total coastline of only 13 miles.

• If a guy has been to Bangor, Norfolk, Newark, New Haven, Phoenix, Stamford, Atlanta, Dayton, Cleveland, Philadelphia and Jacksonville, you'd think he was pretty well-traveled, wouldn't you? Maybe not; those are all names of towns in New York state.

• It was Ambrose Bierce who defined a bride as "a woman with a fine prospect of happiness behind her."

• Psychologists claim that if you don't like children, it's probably because you were abused or neglected when you were growing up.

• The starfish can turn its stomach inside-out.

• Lynching was legal in the U.S. until 1893. Georgia was the first state to pass a law against it, but the punishment was only four years in prison.

• President Taft weighed 352 pounds.

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Lots of possibilities begin to open up by midweek. Some seem more appealing than others. But wait for more facts to emerge later on before you consider which to choose.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Bravo to the determined Bovine. While others might give up, you continue to search for answers. Expect your Taurean tenacity to begin paying off by week's end.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You might want to consider stepping back from the task at hand for a while. This could help you get a better perspective on what you've done and what still needs to be done.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Your keen Cancerian insight should help you determine whether a new offer is solid or just more fluff 'n' stuff. The clues are all there, waiting for you to find them.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Being ignored is difficult for any proud Leo or Leona. But pushing yourself back into the spotlight might be unwise. Instead, let things work themselves out at their own pace.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Trying to uncover a colleague's secret under the pretext of showing concern is ill-advised. Control your curiosity in order to avoid raising resentment in the workplace.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Expect to hear good news about a loved one. Also, be prepared for some changes in several family relationships that could develop from this lucky turn of events.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Some surprises are expected to accompany a number of changes that will continue through part of next week. At least one could involve a romantic situation.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You might be upset by some of your critics. But most of your associates continue to have faith in your ability to get the job done, and done well.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A workplace goal that suddenly seems out of reach is no problem for the sure-footed Goat, who moves steadily forward despite any obstacles placed in his or her way.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Uncertainty about who is right and who isn't might keep you from making a clear-cut decision. Wait until you know more about what you're being asked to decide.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Be careful to keep your emotions in check when dealing with a demanding personal situation. You need to set an example of strength for others to follow.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have an extraordinary ability to rally people to do their best. You would be a treasure as a teacher.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On June 10, 1881, Count Leo Tolstoy, author of "War and Peace" (1865-1869), sets off on a pilgrimage to a monastery disguised as a peasant. He had declared that the public owned his works, but his wife gained control of the copyrights for all his work published before 1880.

• On June 7, 1942, the Battle of Midway comes to an end. In the four-day sea and air battle, the outnumbered U.S. Pacific Fleet succeeded in destroying four Japanese aircraft carriers with the loss of only one of its own, the Yorktown.

• On June 5, 1956, Elvis introduces his new single, "Hound Dog," on "The Milton Berle Show" and scandalizes the audience with his suggestive hip gyrations. In the media frenzy that followed, Ed Sullivan swore he would never invite Presley on his own show, but that autumn he booked Elvis for three shows.

• On June 11, 1962, John and Clarence Anglin and Frank Lee Morris attempt to escape from Alcatraz federal prison in San Francisco Bay. The three men were never seen again, and it is likely that they drowned in the chilly 54-degree water.

• On June 8, 1968, actress Barbara Bain wins the Emmy for Best Actress in a Dramatic Series. Bain played secret agent Cinnamon Carter on the CBS series "Mission: Impossible," which ran from 1966 to 1973.

• On June 9, 1973, Secretariat becomes the first horse since Citation in 1948 to win America's coveted Triple Crown. In 1999, ESPN ranked Secretariat No. 35 on its list of the Top 50 North American athletes of the 20th century, the only non-human on the list.

• On June 6, 1984, in a bloody climax to two years of fighting between the Indian government and Sikh separatists, Indian army troops fight their way into the besieged Golden Temple compound in Amritsar and kill at least 500 Sikh rebels. More than 100 Indian soldiers and scores of nonbelligerent Sikhs also perished.

Four students earn full ride scholarships

By Desirae Guevara
News Editor

Four out of sixty-five River City High School students headed to four-year universities were notified that they earned full ride scholarships. These scholarships pay for tuition, housing, books and living expenses while students are working on their undergraduate degrees.

Tracey Davis received the Buck Scholarship. According to the website, "The Frank H. Buck Scholarships benefit exceptional, ambitious young people who possess leadership potential as well as a commitment to their school, community and family." Recipients must attend high school within the congressional boundaries that were represented by Buck.

Upon hearing she won the prestigious Buck scholarship, Davis replied, "I'm happy I received this scholarship. When I found out, I was excited and relieved at the same time because my hard work paid off." The scholarship pays for all expenses to attend any university. Davis plans to attend UC San Diego.

Lucy Mendoza received the Gates Millennium Scholarship, which is given to "low-income African American, Native American, Asian American and Hispanic American students to attend the undergraduate and graduate institutions of their choice," according to Student Financial Services. Mendoza commented, "I'm happy. I don't have to worry about loans later on." Mendoza plans to study civil engineering at UC Berkeley. She also considered attending UC San Diego.

Vu Tran received several scholarships to attend UCLA. Most notably, Tran earned the Dell scholarship for $20,000. "The Program helps open the doors of college education to students who have a great potential to succeed, but may not have the highest GPAs due to obstacles they've had to overcome," said Susan Dell, cofounder of the Michael & Susan Dell Foundation. Tran also is a finalist for Sunkist and KFC scholarships.

Tran also was accepted to Stanford University. She chose the University of California, Los Angeles over Stanford University because "UCLA had the major and program I wanted. When I visited Stanford, I didn't like the atmosphere of the campus. I knew I would do fine at either school, but at UCLA I can major in nursing," stated Tran.

Amy Liu received the Donald R. Gerth scholarship to cover her tuition, books and living expenses at California State University, Sacramento. The Donald R. Gerth scholarship is given to students who are majoring in government. Liu was also accepted to UC Davis, but she decided to stay close to home and attend Sac State.

Several other students earned scholarships to pay for a portion of their college expenses. Three R.C. students earned athletic scholarships: Alyssa Reyes will play basketball for California Maritime Academy in Vallejo; Lauren Ruvalcaba earned a soccer scholarship to play for Cal Poly Pomona; and Calvin Langford will attend Simpson University in Redding and play baseball.

New addition to River City staff

Dr. Stuart MacKay hired as new high school principal

By Lucy Mendoza
Editor-in-Chief

River City High School is well known for its diversity; every time a person turns around they see someone from a different ethnic background. As of Thur., May 25, the Washington Unified School District appointed a new, permanent principal for River City who will add to the school's diverse surroundings. Scottish born Dr. Stuart MacKay, who still maintains his Scottish accent, will officially be a part of the R.C. family July 1, but "he will be paid for transition and planning in June," wrote Dave Tooker, interim superintendent, in an email to staff.

A panel composed of students, parents, district employees and R.C. staff interviewed three potential candidates for the principal vacancy before the district confirmed MacKay (pronounced MacKi) as principal.

Dr. MacKay taught English at Oak Ridge High School then moved to Granite Bay High to continue teaching English. He then returned to Oak Ridge where he took the position as the school's assistant principal. Dr. McKay is now making a new transition to a seemingly different world. The demographics are quite different than Oak Ridge or Granite Bay.

"I am very excited to be going to River City; I am really looking forward to it. It has such great diversity," commented Dr. MacKay.

Dr. MacKay studied at UCLA and received his bachelor's degree in English and his master's degree in education. He later went on to study at the University of La Verne where he earned a doctoral degree.

Though new to this area, Dr. MacKay is not completely surrounded by strangers. Mr. Himes, R.C.'s interim principal, was a former colleague of Dr. MacKay at Oak Ridge High. MacKay held an English teacher position while Mr. Himes was the assistant principal, a position that Dr. MacKay eventually took over for six years.

"He was a great colleague and professional. He was a top quality teacher and related well with staff," commented Mr. Himes about MacKay. Mr. Himes also added that Dr. MacKay is a committed teacher and easy to work with. Many R.C. teachers also are very excited to be working with a person with Dr. MacKay's educational background.

Dr. MacKay is scheduled to visit R.C. today and talk with staff, students and learn more about the campus.

R.C. roller coaster takes second place at Paramont

By Winnie Veikune
Staff Writer

River City Math Analysis students arrived at Paramount's Great America 6th annual roller coaster contest in Santa Clara on May 19. Preparing to compete, students assembled their roller coaster in the events tent with 50 coasters representing Northern California schools.

Nervously awaiting the judges to announce the winners, River City High School students screamed in excitement when the coaster Operation Freedom took second place and Aaah ACE! came in third place during the preliminary round. The screams grew louder and the students jumped with joy when the judges announced the third place winner in the final round, Operation Freedom.

Operation Freedom designed by Matt Johnson, Daniel Pesola, Phillip Pesola, and Alyssa Reyes. Aaah ACE! designed by Chelsea Adams, Lizzie Harris, Ally West, and Lauren Yeargin.

"The students did an awesome job. They are all winners and I am very proud of each one of them," stated math department chair Carol Higgins.

SLC:Which direction is River City High School heading?

By Winnie Veikune
Staff Writer

Will students be part of a Small Learning Community next year when they attend River City High School? This question continues to go unanswered as the 2005-06 school year comes to a close.

For the past three years River City High School and Washington Unified School District staff have participated in research, discussions and meetings about the effectiveness of Small Learning Communities. Staff spent hours during some late start Wednesday schedules over the past year and a half discussing and planning the best designs for SLC's and ways to implement them at River City H.S.

The ability to implement SLC's by the 2006-07 school year is questionable since the leadership at the high school and the district are changing. "While a vote taken by RCHS teachers demonstrated that a majority of teachers (54) wanted to see SLC's happen in the near future, a small number of teachers do not want SLC's under any circumstance. Unfortunately, it is their voices that are being heard," said Luis Medina, science teacher and SLC coordinator.

The proposed Small Learning Communities would create five groups within River City High School. If SLC's are implemented, students may select an educational emphasis from the following SLC's: Arts and Humanities, Public Service, Health and Wellness, Information and Technology or Engineering and Industrial Technology. Graduation requirements will still apply under the SLC program.

In past years, a select group of River City students have participated in the Engineering Technology Academy, which is similar to a small learning community structure.

Interim principal Greg Himes believes the implementation of SLC's suits the "personal interest of the students and the impact of the SLC will definitely increase the connection between students and staff."

Some teachers are reluctant to continue to work on developing the SLC program for fear that nothing will be done with all their efforts, but others feel the district is committed to following through with the program. "Our district received $100,000 from the Gates Foundation to investigate SLC's," states science teacher Don Stauffer. Then WUSD later received $400,000 in Federal Grant funds to implement SLC's at the high school.

Teachers also are reluctant to implement SLC's until after the high school raises test scores and gets out of SAIT. "We must be careful not to spread ourselves so thin that we don't do anything well. Let's focus on getting out of SAIT and staying out of SAIT," stated math dept. chair Carol Higgins.

For the past two years, River City High School staff has been working under SAIT, School Assistance and Intervention Team, to improve student test scores on standardized state exams. Also the high school will undergo WASC accreditation next year. The Western Association of Schools and Colleges is the accrediting commission for schools across the nation to ensure excellence.

Other concerns regarding SLC implementation involve the teachers union. "Some of the requirements for implementation are subject to negotiations with the Washington Teachers Association," said Himes.

Teachers are concerned about several issues but topping their agenda is ensuring appropriate staffing and facilities.

On May 25, the board elected Dr. Steve Lawrence as the new superintendent and Dr. Stuart MacKay as the new River City High School principal. It will likely be a few weeks before students, parents and staff know whether Dr. Lawrence and Dr. MacKay support small learning communities.

The buzz of the year

End of year highlights

By April Rink
Opinions Editor

Just as quick as the rain stopped and the sun came out, students began to close their books and prepare for summer. As the 2005-06 school year comes to an end, there is excitement in the atmosphere.

Seniors have received their acceptance letters to four-year universities, while others plan to attend local two-year community colleges. There are those who sit in anticipation of beginning their career path. Several seniors are planning a journey with the military.

The juniors are ready for their last year of high school and anxiously awaiting to be the new "head class." Sophomores are through half of high school and can focus on earning all the credits for the college of their choice. Freshman can take a big sigh. They are no longer the underclassmen.

With no permanent principal and two new vice principals, the school year started off a little rocky. The first interim principal to run the school was Bonnie Broxton, who returned after one year of retirement. Greg Himes was welcomed to River City on Jan. 10 as the new interim principal. Even though, he enjoys being on site with students, Himes will return to retirement at the end of the school year.

The search for a new principal progressed and the board selected Dr. Stuart MacKay from Oak Ridge High School in El Dorado Hills last week. The board also selected Dr. Steven Lawrence to head the district. Lawrence is formally from Roseville Joint Union High School District.

Counselor Chris Tyler is retiring this year. Luis Medina is saying goodbye as well. He took a position in Lodi. Medina taught the AVID program and physiology classes. Mrs. Andrea Smith took over Ms. Aldrete's Spanish II and ESL classes for the whole year after she was out on sick leave.

The staff welcomed new teachers this year. New to the English Department were Mary Stedman, Kellie Cox, Katie Molina and David Gray. The science department welcomed Jason Maas-Baldwin as an earth science teacher. Art Bustamante joined social studies. Char Ghio and Sarah Mankewich were recruited to the P.E. dept., and Ghio also is one of the new athletic directors. The math department added several new teachers: Leigh-Ann Fassiotto, Sheila Mathrole, Mario Morales, Jasmin Patel, April Pickett and Laura Puliz.

The first kick off of student activities during spirit week was a wild game. The seniors made poor decisions with drugs; the juniors had a night run in with the cops because a neighbor heard loud shot noises. It was a paint ball attack. The sophomores used megaphones to enhance their voices, which is against the rules. The freshman barely had any supporters to cheer for their class, but won the spirit week competition by default.

Leadership played a big role by keeping the atmosphere interesting with dances, events and lunch activities. The best student activities were the dances, which were held monthly keeping the afternoon rally theme. Competition ran throughout each event, but women overtook the men once again at the Battle of the Sexes rally. For a shocking disappointment, homecoming dance this year was informal and the Winter Ball was semi-formal.

This year, prom took a twist and was held at the Hard Rock Café in Downtown, Sacramento. The theme was "A Red Carpet Affair," so the hard rock fit perfectly. Three hundred fifty-six students attended the balloon and star filled event. They ate, walked around the mall and danced the night away. Although it was a risk to hold the dance at different place than last year, the evening turned out wonderful.

The controversy surrounding the California High School Exit Exam had seniors who had not passed the exam dangling by a thread. First the court ruled to delay the implementation of the exam only for it to be reinstated last week by the higher court, crushing the hopes of 47,000 (11 percent) of California's 2006 seniors who did not pass the exit exam. These students will not receive a high school diploma. Only ten R.C. seniors have not passed the exam. Ninety-seven percent of R.C. seniors have passed the high school exit exam and will receive their diplomas.

Disturbing news hit May 18, when a young freshman, Jimmie Seaturn was pronounced dead from a drowning accident while swimming at Discovery Park. The 14-year-old West Sacramento boy rode his bike with his friends to Jibboom Street Bridge. Seaturn was swimming near a pillar, beneath the bridge, which is said to have powerful water funnels and was taken under seconds later. Family and friends were all deeply saddened by this tragedy. This shall serve as a lesson and awful memory for students to be safe and careful while swimming in the river this summer. Wear life jackets.

Congratulations to those who have made it through the most memorable four years of their lives. In the halls lie the friends made and lost. On the walls, stand the memories of high school sweethearts and broken hearts. In the classrooms sit the teachers who we've loved, hated and have inspired us to be all that we can. It is hard to leave such a place that has become a part of us and has helped us grow to be the people we have become today, but high school has prepared us for the world and has shown us the ways to be successful on our own and has guided us down the right path. Hopefully, the twelve years we have dedicated to school will pay off in our future, and we will be successful and happy in life.

Community service: Make-up madness

By Jennifer Ben
Staff Writter

Students all know the story. Every River City High School student must complete eight hours of community service each year for a total of 32 hours before they can graduate. Students also must perform an abundant amount of activities such as writing topic essays and journals as well as creating posters or power point presentations.

Compared to earning 220 credits throughout four years of high school, community service is an easy requirement. Still, there are students who do not complete it each year. Suddenly, senior year is upon students and the scramble to complete past years of service is critical, so they can walk at graduation.

Earlier this month, seniors met in the Career Center to present their make-up community service to Community Service Committee members Diane Askew, Terry Luttrell and Rose Penrose. The committee met throughout the day listening to presentations and reviewing essays to ensure students fulfilled their graduation requirements. Some students were required to expand on their essays and journals if they did not meet the specified requirements.

By Jennifer Ben

Twenty-two seniors failed to show up on the last of four scheduled dates to complete make-up community service. "For eight of these students, community service could possibly be the only thing standing between them and graduation," stated special education department chair Diane Askew. The Community Service Committee will not convene again until fall of 2006. Seniors who did not complete their service may present their case to the school principal or district office for an appeal.

Juniors with community service to make up should get started this summer. To pick up a make-up community service packet, visit English teacher Ms. Luttrell in room 42. Visit Ms. Askew in room 18 to inquire about possible community service opportunities.

It is difficult to complete all the requirements necessary to graduate from high school. Community service is not necessarily an evil. It is an easy requirement to complete, and it helps students gain experience for future jobs as well as provide an advantage for college and scholarship applications.

Graduating senior Cecelia Menezes encourages all underclassmen not to be a community service senior loser who risks not graduating for something as simple as community service. Just do it!

The guide to a great summer

Jaymi Appleberry & Debbie Ferguson
Features Editor & Staff Writer

The school year is ending and summer time is just around the corner. With places to go and people to see, it's just a matter of how much time we will actually have, to encounter the season of the sun. For those of you who don't have any special plans or things to do during this upcoming summer, here are a few suggestions

1. Go to summer school. What a way to start off the next year fresh. River City High school has a fun, educational environment for students to catch up on their work and still have a grand time.

2. Find a couple of museums to explore, Museums aren't just for nerds anymore. For a heads up, here are the names of a few Sacramento museums located here in Sacramento; the California Military Museum, the Women and the Arts California Museum of History, California State railroad museum, California State Indian Museum, the Crocker art museum, the Discovery museum, the discovery museum Science and Space Center.

3. Travel out of state. What a great way to explore the country.

4. Travel out of the country. Explore the world during the summer. England, Italy, Mexico and Spain would be fun places with lots of beautiful sights, for starters.

5. Play your favorite summer league activity. Almost all sports at R.C. offer summer leagues. Whether its basketball, football, volleyball or soccer, they're all great sports to play.

6. Read a book. It's a great way to refresh your knowledge during the summer months. Books recommended include: "How the Garcia Girls lost their Accents," by Julia Alvarez and "The Sun Also Rises," by Ernest Hemingway in addition to the books featured in this month's edition of The Review.

7. Take community college courses. What better way to get ahead and prepare for college. Sacramento City College and Los Rios Community College are highly recommended.

8. Visit relatives. It's never a bad idea to go and visit grandma or your favorite aunt or uncle.

9. Throw a party. Only if you get a good DJ and with your parent's permission.

10. Go shopping. For the ladies, that is self-explanatory.

11. Play video games. For the guys, that is self-explanatory.

12. Sell ice cream. With a reasonable price, that'll be hard to turn down on a hot day.

13. Get a job. Go make that money!

14. Baby sit. Not literally.

15. Exercise. It is the best way to stay healthy. The 24-Hour Fitness, Muscle System and the YMCA are fine places to go and work out.

With all these things to do during the summer, it will be hard to be bored during the summer. Obviously these are not the only summer options, but with a good imagination summer should be fun and active.

Retrograde Veracity

By Rose Sanchez
Junior guest writer

Her hair is not mousy brown. She does not have blue eyes, dotted with spots of gray. Her skin is not pale. Her arms are not covered with freckles and moles. She does not have long, gangly legs or slender fingers that people say are good for playing the piano she has never owned. She does not walk with a stoop when she enters a room, trying to make herself small. She is not awkward when meeting new people, or ill at ease with their children or pets. Her books are not stacked haphazardly around the room. There are no lost letters or ticket stubs or photos stuffed within. Her family is not littered with alcoholics or drug addicts. She has no scars on her stomach, no stitch marks on her side, no stretch marks on her hips. As a child she never fell from her bike or her skateboard and landed on her knees. The palms of her hands have never been scratched and bruised. Her face has never been punched or slapped. She has never watched someone die. She has not buried her father. She has never been a bad mother. She does not listen to sad songs, her socks are not mismatched, and her hair is never tangled. She spends no time thinking about the end of the world, about a lush, blue planet becoming a frozen cylinder. She does not think of herself, evaporated into space, her body a flash of tremendous heat and light, hurtling toward a dead sun.

Micro fiction is a fictional story that is 250 words or less. English teacher, Amy Goldman, assigned her students with the task of writing their own micro fiction story this semester. After reviewing over one hundred micro fiction stories, Ms. Goldman awarded Rose Sanchez with the honor of Top Micro Fiction Author for "Retrograde Veracity." Second place went to Jae Ellescas for her work entitled "Slumber."

There are also four honorable mentions Shawn Wright, Bart Hagler, Chelsie Vasquez and Ashley Hunter. Awards of Merit go to Zac Gomez and Daniel Pesola for their collection of ten micro-fiction stories. Ms. Goldman will be displaying the outstanding micro fiction stories in her room and welcomes any who wishes visit and take a moment to read the stories.

WUSD hires permanent superintendent

District finally hires superintendent after nearly one year with interim

By Lucy Mendoza
Editor-in-Chief

In addition to a newly added principal of River City, the Washington Unified School District also hired a permanent superintendent to lead of all schools in West Sacramento.

Currently the assistant superintendent of the Roseville Joint Union High School District, Dr. Steven Lawrence was selected last week to fill the vacancy of WUSD superintendent.

According to School Board President Kevin Jones, the district unanimously chose Dr. Lawrence to be the new superintendent. Lawrence has had great success with augmenting student accomplishment at all the schools he has worked with. Before his six years at the Roseville school district, Dr. Lawrence held the principal position at Aliso Niguel High School in the Capistrano Unified School District in Orange County.

Dr. Lawrence has an extensive educational background, which includes a doctorate in educational policy and a master's degree in school administration from UCLA and a bachelor's degree in applied mathematics from Brown University.

Dr. Lawrence could not be reached for comments. He will be replacing Mr. Dave Tooker, WUSD's current interim superintendent.

In memory of Jimmie Saeteurn

By Samantha Kuechler
Staff Writer

The staff and students of River City High School extend their deepest sympathies to the family of Jimmie Saeteurn, who passed away on May 18, 2006. Jimmie, a freshman, along with a group of friends was enjoying an after school swim at the American River when tragedy struck. Jimmie was swimming near the pillar of the Jibboom Street Bridge when he was pulled down by the under current of the river. After several days of searching, Jimmie's body was recovered near the last place seen by his friends.

On Fri., May 19, River City High School students learned this terrible news in the morning announcements. Tears were present in almost every classroom. Many people, if not all, were wondering why Jimmie was the one to go. Many faced the reality that life is short, and we could go at any moment.

I remember when I last saw Jimmy. I had him in first period science class. We had a Science project. The first time I talked to him I asked him for a piece of paper then I saw him later at lunch. He seemed so happy and then the next day he wasn't there anymore. Later that day, during the morning announcements, they announced that Jimmie had died..

Jimmie was a beloved student and a beloved friend. He will be missed by those who knew him as a classmate, those who new him as a best friend, and will be missed by the teachers who taught him.

Editor-in-Chief Lucy Mendoza salutes River City High School students and staff a serious farewell. Mendoza wrote and served as editor of The Review for three years and plans to be involved with journalism at the University of California, Berkeley where she will be studying civil engineering.

Science Decathlon: R.C. students compete

By Joti Bandhu
Staff Writer

The Science Decathlon team attended their first science decathlon this spring and all won medals. The event took place at Monroe High in Seattle, Washington on Sat., April 28. The Science Decathlon is an event where students from all over the nation come together to participate in events related to science.

Anisa Ahmadzai, Jeannette Carpenter, Fay Dennis, Romeeza Nasar and Joti Bandhu were part of the River City High School team. Ahmidzai and Dennis took second in CSI, an event involving different kinds of substances and experiments they had to conduct; Carpenter and Nasar took third in Rocks and Minerals in which they had to classify and test a number of different rocks; Bandhu took third in the Anatomy of the Bugs event, which had her examine different species of bugs and classify them by their role in the insect chain.

Nasar stated, "I thought the event was really good and it helped me learn more about things that I would never even imagine learning about." There were about twenty schools from around the nation and River City was the first team from California to go. The team's advisor was Jennifer Waggoner.

R.C. tennis team sealed spot in playoffs

By Andrea Kaine
Sports & Activities Editor

For the eleventh straight season, the River City tennis team has made it to the playoffs. River City tied with Vanden for first place in the Capital Valley Conference, making the teams co-champions.

Before moving on to the first-round playoffs, the team had to play Vanden to be placed in the playoff bracket. River City was defeated by Vanden 4-1, which put the R.C. team up against a former rival for the first-round.

River City's first playoff match was on Thur., May 11 at home against Colfax. The teams are no longer in the same league, but the old rivalry remained. Coach Dave Brooks said, "We played them twenty-two times with a tied record of 11-11, so it was cool to play them in the playoffs to break the tie."

Honoring a past tradition, the R.C. tennis team all wore dark green t-shirts, which was their opponent's school color. "Wearing the green shirts was to psych the other team out. This threw off their concentration and showed the River City team's unity," stated John Shofner. River City succeeded in beating their past adversary, Colfax, 3-2. Sticking with tradition paid off.

After River City beat Colfax, the team moved on to quarterfinals where they were defeated by Inderkum 3-2, who had a first-round bye, meaning they automatically advanced to the quarterfinals without having to play a first-round game. Inderkum later went on to win the Sac-Joaquin Division Championship after winning two more matches.

Even though the team had a disappointing end in the quarterfinals, they are not giving up for the upcoming years. "I look forward to this summer and next year. It's not just about winning; it's also about having fun," said Coach Brooks.

Awaiting baby Aidan

By Andrea Kaine
Sports & Activities Editor

Senior English teacher Susan Smith is anxiously awaiting the birth of a baby boy, Aidan Robert Smith. Mrs. Smith and her husband, Matt, are expecting their first child on June 9.

The anticipated birth of baby Aidan is one of Smith's greatest joys. This arrival will complete their family, says Smith.

The couple decorated the expected infant's room in blue and green to create a retro Disneyland atmosphere of "Tomorrow Land."

"My greatest fear is that I won't know how to teach [Aidan] all the things he needs to know to be happy and successful," stated Smith.

Based on her ability to teach life's lessons to seniors, Smith will be a great mom. Mrs. Smith is a great example to her students as she continues to teach, while expecting in a week and a half, to ensure her senior students are successful.

The Review extends a warm welcome to baby Aidan and congratulations to the new parents.

The Employee Recognition Dinner will be held in June to celebrate all of the teachers who have been recognized this year.

R.C. baseball battles through playoffs

By Andrea Kaine

Entering the playoffs with high hopes, the R.C. Varsity boys' baseball team was soon devastated, losing in the first-round of the playoffs. After losing to Vanden two weeks ago, River City's playoff spot was sealed when Foothill beat Rio Linda on Tues., May 9 and Thur., May 11.

The R.C. team was disappointed they did not win league, but were happy to have made it to playoffs. "The playoff game was the goal of our team since the beginning," said Jordan Coggins.

The River City team was placed in the bracket to have a first-round game against Oakmont High School from Roseville. The teams played against one another on Sat., May 20. Oakmont defeated River City 7-6 in the eleventh inning. "We fought our way through and played a fun game. I felt disappointed when we lost, but was proud of my team when I reflected on this season," stated Calvin Langford.

Although the baseball team lost in the first-round of the playoffs, they ended with a great season of 18-9 overall and an 8-4 league record.

June 2 is when the fun begins and the days until graduation draw closer. The annual senior trip is to Santa Cruz where students will frolic in the sun and sand and chase each other along Santa Cruz Beach Boardwalk amusement park. Later in the evening, seniors will go to a luxurious hotel to prepare for the evening. The girls will get prettied up and the guys will don their most debonair attire for a dinner cruise on the San Francisco Bay. Seniors will enjoy a buffet dinner and entertaining disco dancing. "This fun outing is an event that every student should cherish because it's the last time to really spend time with your class," said senior Sabrina Hernandez.

The students will leave the school at 7:00 a.m. and return at 2:00 a.m. River City has been putting on this fun day for the past 30+ years.

Seniors who have school debts, failing grades, behavior problems and those not meeting graduation requirements will not be able to participate in the fun.

comments science teacher Ellen Hoffmann

Cardboard, duct tape and brains. These are the only materials students are allowed to use during the 6th annual River City Cardboard Boat Races. The races were held on Friday, May 5. Students and staff gather along the edges of the pool roasting in the sun to see the student built boat races.

Participants from the physics and physics and technology classes are split up into groups and then they are on their own using only cardboard, duct tape and brains to design and build their boats. The team who paddles the length of the pool, up and back the quickest is declared the winner. Sunken boats are disqualified.

Careless days, sleeping in late and hanging with friends will be upon students in a couple of weeks. Summer league sports, however, are an alternative to summer boredom.

"Students who are interested in signing up for summer league sports should talk to the coach of the team they hope to join," said athletic director Jamie King.

Some sports available are boys' basketball, coached by Jon West and girls' basketball, coached by Jamie King. Football is underway and is being coached by Brian Watkins. Cory Clonce and Kendall Mizner along with Gary Restivo will coach girls' and boys' soccer. Ardella Koester will coach volleyball. Dave Brooks is coaching tennis.

I, Hilary Nicole Usrey, hereby do bequeath to my best friends (ABTPLJS) memories of the good times and permission to call and/or visit me at anytime over the next year. Caitlin Politi shall receive my parking spot and undying love for Marcus Flootie. TO Magdalena Gomez, I leave our Taco Bell memories, a copy of Tristan + Isolde on DVD, the ability to reverse in a McDonald's drive-through, my number to call during all those "crazy confusing" times, the rights to all our band songs, the capability to take one for the team, and a wig for all those bad hair days. To you both, I leave unlimited access to my dorm room at UCSB. For Zac Gomez I give my incredible dancing skills and my copy of Soccer for Dummies. TO Brianna Summers, "Baby B," I pass down my group portraits and enthusiasm for singing in class; as well as a bag of peanut butter M&Ms. And last, but not least, I leave my senioritis, an unlimited supply of Starbucks coffee and energy drinks, and my favorite scrub outfit to the Class of 2007. Remember to have fun, relax, and live it up: make your last year as special as mine was. I LOVE YOU ALL!
-Hilary Usrey

I, Jen Ben, leave my artistic skills to the next AP art class. I leave my cartoonist position in the Journalism class to the next qualified person in this school, if there is someone who can match my talent! I leave my class colors to the upcoming freshmen. I leave carrying around my giant portfolio to every other art geek that goes to this school. To the Class of 2006...Good Night, and Good Luck!
-Jen Ben

This has been a long journey through high school. But now it's time for me to take what I've learned and move on. All the memories will be left behind for me to make new ones in the future. There have been times when I've struggled and thought I couldn't go on but now I am here, graduating high school. Moving on to bigger and better things in life (The NAVY). I will go through struggles in life, but I will keep my head up. I want to thank my mom, my family, Pham and my teachers for pushing me to my fullest and always being there for me. To my sister Mari, "Make good choices, and don't follow the crowd."...Here I go!!!
-Desirae Guevara (Tutti)

When I'm gone, I want to leave all my friends and family with a little something. So here it goes. Olivia I leave with you with all the crazy Bum adventures and with the joy of taking down old ladies. Oh wait, and of course Jazz. You're the best friend I could of asked for and that is why I'm leaving you with my prized BSB collection haha, you know we used to 'Get Down' to that. I wish you and Earl the best of luck. Andrea I'm leaving behind a container of spit for all those apples at lunch and of course the corn at dinner. Oh yes and of course new brake pads because haha I know how you drive. Just kidding. Thank you for everything I love you like a sister. Speaking of sisters Dale to you I leave my dorky style because I know how you really are at home singing into the hairbrush. I wish you the best of luck in your years in high school. I love you with all my heart. And hey watch over Mikey, and you what I mean haha. Erin I wish you luck in your classes next year especially that one we both dreaded, but hey only one semester! I leave all my friends with the one gift they have given me, love and happiness oh and all those embarrassing moments. Oh, Lizzy those girls at Arden liked your butt too, haha "My humps, my humps." Haha good times! Well that's all and I hope everyone enjoyed their high school years it was a blast

In loving memory from class of 2006,
Susan Romine

All good things come to an end and this is one of them, graduating high school. Surely I will miss high school, my friends and teachers. The experiences that I have gone through here are unforgettable. I want to take this opportunity to thank my parents who have taught me to 'keep striving for good things in life and to never give up.' Most importantly, Congratulation to the class of 2006! We've made it out of high school. Now I leave this quote. "If can imagine it, you can achieve it; if you can dream it, you can become it." William Arthur Ward.
-Winnie Veikune

I, Ally West, leave my heart and my quiet confidence to Vannessa Gonzales. I leave my height to Ashley Thorne and Lucy Thao. To Kayla Williams, I leave my buffness. I leave my post moves to Jaymi Appleberry. To Lauren Yeargin I leave my sprawling ability. I leave my positive attitude to Chelsea Adams and to the future varsity basketball and volleyball teams I leave my hard work and dedication.
-Ally West

I leave behind all of my strange and wonderful adventures. Susan, I leave you the hot and scrumptious bum who wanted your car and his friend from the gas station. Me and Earl are going to miss you (we're going to get him surgery this summer). Keep in touch because I'm going to need to fill you in about my "friendship" with Jazz. One day, when we're old and falling apart, we're going to throw ourselves a party and bust a move to BSB. Nick and AJ foreva! Mel Moe, I leave you behind my delicate nature and my M&M's. And Dale Romine, please don't spend all your money on the Louis Vuitton bag, Susan needs to go to more rock concerts especially the murder Dollz. To Sam, I leave my superior cooking skills and my ability to make things get weirder (yes yes, New Jersey is a country, I know) Go AVID! Behave C/O 2006,
Olivia Stanko

P.S. That old lady's going down
P.P.S. Earl's breathing is keeping me up at night
P.P.P.S. See you at Safeway every two days

YO! There is not a lot that I want to leave behind; I want to take everything I can with me, all the memories, and laughter, all of it. They're mine and you can't have them. Although, I do want to end this year with hope because all things should end with hope. I hope that this is not the last time I will see River City, my friends, or the people who have made my life so colorful, so wonderful. Thank you all, Heather Post. Yearbook Editor-in-Chief.

Slow down Heather, slow down...

his small, thin, naked body and thinking he had been just as alone in life as he was in death; Jillian Kelley, killed by a teenage driver in Woodland. It was heartbreaking to admit her death certificate into evidence while her parents sat so bravely in the courtroom; A 3-year old girl found in a West Sacramento motel where she lived with her drug-addicted mother. Her only clothing was an adult's urine-soaked sweater.

What we do is real. It's hard and often gut-wrenching. We are public servants, not politicians. The office of district attorney is nonpartisan. It's not about who is a Democrat or Republican, but who is the best leader.

Being trial attorneys we are an independent bunch. We have individuals who are at opposite ends of the political spectrum. But the overwhelming majority of us agree that Jeff Reisig should be district attorney.

Jeff Reisig is an outstanding trial attorney and innovative leader. He treats everyone with respect. He has worked with police and educators to prevent crime. He has also prosecuted numerous murder cases in front of juries. His opponent has no such experience.

In a small office like ours the district attorney must be not only a leader in the community, but also lead us in the courtroom because that is where we work. We must have someone who can prosecute cases like the murder of CHP Officer Stevens. Jeff has this experience.

Jeff Reisig is the right choice for district attorney.

The District proposes to tax all interests in property that may be taxed under the Act. Any bonds issued would be secured by the special taxes to be levied in the proposed CFD No. 1. For further details, the resolution is available in the District office at 52902 Clarksburg Avenue, Clarksburg, California 95612.

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that the Board has fixed June 7, 2006, at the hour of 7:00 p.m., or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, at the District offices at 52909 Clarksburg Avenue, Clarksburg, California, as the time and place when and where the Board will hold a public hearing to consider the revision of the special tax and issuance of debt. At the hearing, the testimony of all interested persons, including all persons owning property in the area, or taxpayers for or against the furnishing of the specified public facilities, the revision of the special tax, the levy of the special tax, and the debt issue will be heard.

If 50% or more of the registered voters, or six registered voters, whichever is more, residing within the proposed CFD No. 1, or the owners of one half or more of the area of land in the territory included in CFD No. 1 and not exempt from the special tax, file written protests, and the protests are not withdrawn so as to reduce the value of the protests to less than a majority, the tax levy shall not be considered for a period of one year from the date of the decision of the Board after the hearing. If the majority protests of the registered voters or landowners are only against a specific type of facility or a specified tax, then that type of facility or tax shall be precluded.

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that if, at the conclusion of the public hearing, the Board will order an election to be held by the registered voters of CFD No. 1 on the questions of levying the special tax and incurring debt.
